A New Beginning

Renewal of Ministry with the Welcoming of Fr. Les Jackson
August 30, 2021

Fr. Marc McDonald

I want to thank Fr. Les for inviting me to speak this evening. I count you not only as my colleague, but also my friend and I am honored to be here. Now, Fr. Les and I share many things in common. For one, we both spent some time in the Church of the Nazarene. This shared heritage introduced us to Jesus and I am thankful for this introduction. Flash forward, a few years and we both have become priests in The Episcopal Church a place where theology is grace filled and expansive, where the Spirit of God feeds us in liturgy and prayer, through regular participation in worship and the celebration of the Holy Eucharist. Finally, we both married women with similar sounding names. My wife is Linda and of course, Fr. Les married Valinda. Two of the best things that has ever happened to us was finding spouses who have supported us through the many changes of life, not to mention a late journey into the Episcopal priesthood.

On August 13, Fr. Les celebrated the 10th Anniversary of his priesting. 10 wonderful years of full-time ministry after having one of the longest stints as a transitional deacon, a mere 12 years which I am told might be an all-time church record. But like fine wine, some things take longer to become great.

Now, August 13 in the Episcopal Cycle of saints commemorates Bishop Jeremy Taylor. Bishop Taylor was born in 1613 and became a cleric in the Church of England. He achieved fame as an author during the Puritanical Cromwell years and was a key exemplar of pastoral care as well as a gifted and prolific writer.

As such, he wrote a piece entitled: “Rules and Advices to the Clergy of the Diocese of Down and Connor, for their Department in their Personal and Public Capacities.”

In this work he gives some advice which I would like to impart to Fr. Les this evening, paraphrased of course because the Bishop was a bit wordy.

Under “Personal Duty” we read this advice, quote:

“Let every [cleric] strive to understand himself best; and then to understand others. If he be learned, let him show it by wise teaching, and humble manners. If he be not learned, let him be sure to get so much Knowledge as to know that, and so much Humility, as not to grow [brazen] and puffed up by his Emptiness. For many will pardon a good man that is less learned; but if he be proud, no [one] will forgive him.”

Good advice! The second quote I would share is this...

“Remember that no Minister can govern his people well, and prosperously, unless himself hath learn'd humbly and cheerfully to obey his Superior.”

Important to listen to your Bishop! Right Bishop?

The third piece of advice is of upmost importance, Bishop Taylor writes, “Strive to get the love of the Congregation; but let it not degenerate into popularity. Get their love by doing your Duty, but not by omitting or spoiling any part of it: Ever remembering the severe words of our Blessed Savior, ‘Wo be to you when all speak well of you.’”

Remember that in times of conflict. And finally, the good Bishop exhorts his clergy to:

[Invite no clerics into your worship from other Parishes to speak...” Well, Les, you already messed that one up tonight!

Psalm 16:6 reads, “The boundary lines have fallen for me in pleasant places; I have a goodly heritage.” While we cannot be sure of the exact circumstances that surrounded the Psalmist as he wrote his expression of faith in his heritage, we know enough about the general situation to fill in most of the background. He belonged to a tiny nation that had served as the football for the more powerful nations to the northeast and the south. Israel had known few periods of peace and none free from the threat or the actual fact of war itself. She had seen her great cities destroyed, her leaders taken captive, her temple desecrated. She had seen a remnant of survivors come back from exile and start all over again, rebuilding the city, the temple, and the spiritual and moral fabric of the people.

Looking back on all this—an experience that stretched over several hundred years, the Psalmist lifts his voice in praise to the God of his fathers. He sees in all that has happened to his people, the hand of God dealing with them. He says with conviction, “I have a goodly heritage.”

In saying this, the Psalmist was rejoicing in the evidence of the goodness of God in the life of his people; he was gratefully acknowledging the existence of those who had gone before him. Looking on these clear evidences of the hand of God in the life of God’s people, the Psalmist is not afraid to take up the lines of responsibility that fall to him and his generation. Like the psalmist we acknowledge and celebrate a ‘goodly heritage,’ but we also recognize and take responsibility to pass it on. We do that by seeking to know what Jesus would have us do—and when we know—by doing it well.

In John 3, Jesus engages the powerful, prestigious, political Nicodemus by saying, “Flesh gives birth to flesh, but the Spirit gives birth to spirit. Do not be surprised at my saying ‘You must be born again.’” A fresh start...a new beginning. This is where we find ourselves this evening. As a parish, you have been given a good priest these past 17 months. You can look at your past and say, you have had a “goodly heritage” with many wonderful lay and clergy leaders. But this evening, we can celebrate a new beginning because our God is always a God of new beginnings.

What does this spiritual birth that Jesus invited Nicodemus into do for us? It gives us breath. Life can knock the breath out of us. Spiritually speaking, Jesus says to Nicodemus, “Pay attention to your breath, Nicodemus.” Breath, wind and spirit in the Bible are the same word. You have got to pay attention to the Spirit, Nicodemus. Life has knocked the wind out of you—too many late night meetings, too many hard decisions, too many worries, too many doubts—you are out of breath. Let the Holy Spirit breathe into you the breath of life. Spiritual birth gives us eyes that are open to new insights, ears that are open to new voices, hearts that are open to God’s people.

“For God so loved the world that God gave God’s one and only son that whoever believes in him should not perish but have eternal life.” God so loved the world. Not part of the world, but all of the world. Not just certain people in El Dorado but all of the people in El Dorado. You can’t believe John 3:16 and be a pessimist. Hate is incongruent with the will of God. The world is not coming to death, it is coming to life.

We call it Transformation. “If anyone is in Christ, they are a new creation, the old has gone, the new has come” (II Corinthians 5:17). Transformation means change from the inside out, conversion from the old to the new. Transformation is our path to true freedom, our hope of becoming fully human.

And new birth means new life in community. I know there are times when we’d would rather do it ourselves, but we aren’t wired that way. We are made to belong, to be a part of the family of God, to become the Body of Christ. The Church is not perfect. How could it be? It’s made up of people like you and me. But the Church is God’s best hope for humanity. Do you believe that Trinity? You need to believe this. You are God’s best hope for this community to not just exist but to thrive and to find it’s truest measurer of humanity, empathy, and spiritual vitality.

Every time we come into this place, we ought to be prepared to encounter the living God. Every time we gather, every time we open the Word, every time we kneel in prayer, every time we receive Holy Communion, is a time of new beginning. If we are prepared to encounter God, a new beginning is inevitable.

This evening as each of us renews our call to ministry first given at our baptism, I invite you to recommit your support for Fr. Les’s ministry among you. You can do this first of all by praying daily for your priest. It is a tremendous responsibility overseeing two parishes. It may be easy to become discouraged from time to time. Discouragement drains the life of creativity away and leaves the minister burnt out. Fr. Les and Valinda covet your prayers. They need your prayers. Ask God to give your priest wisdom and the grace to serve you faithfully.

And remember, he cannot do it alone. You did not call him to do your ministry for you. You called him to pray for you, to equip you and to lead you in carrying out the Great Commission given to all believers in our baptismal vows. Your faithful participation does two things. First, it reveals your support of your priest, and the direction God is leading this church. Second, it’s both an affirmation and encouragement to Fr. Les that you recognize that God is in this calling.

In just a moment, we each will have an opportunity to renew our baptismal vows. Once again, dying to ourselves and rising to new life. May it be the sign and seal of a new beginning as God’s new creations ready to live the challenge of our high calling in Christ Jesus. And may the people of Trinity Church led by a gracious and godly priest (and an awesome Deacon) be bound in Christ’s love together. May your commitment lead you from this place ready to share the love of Christ that others find God’s great love in their lives also. In the Name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit. Amen

COVID-19 Policy from the Bishop

August 4, 2021

Dearly Beloved of the Diocese of Kansas:

At every stage in this COVID pandemic, we have sought in our diocese to follow the best medical and scientific guidance available and to empower parishes to follow that guidance in light of their local context. Above all, we have been guided by Jesus' summary of the law: Love the Lord your God with all your heart, soul, mind and strength and love your neighbor as yourself. In facing the complexities and changing nature of this virus, sacrificial love of our neighbors and of our selves can be difficult, frustrating, and even costly, but it is our calling.

Out of this call to love, considering the current spike in COVID-19 cases across Kansas, and after consultation with medical advisers, the Executive Committee of the Council of Trustees, and the Council of Deans, I am requiring that all people over two years of age – vaccinated and unvaccinated alike – wear masks for all indoor worship and gatherings in Episcopal churches in the Diocese of Kansas through October 1. At that time the mask policy will be reviewed, in consideration of COVID-19 cases and vaccination rates. Decisions about daily mask use in church offices is at the discretion of local leadership.

The move to universal masking is currently the only diocesan policy change. All previous diocesan guidance stands. Clergy may look for new recommendations regarding communion and safe approaches to fellowship and food from our office soon.

Love of others: Many Episcopalians in our diocese are vaccinated, and even with the Delta variant infections happen in only a small proportion of people who are fully vaccinated. However, while we may know the vaccination status of our members, we also need to be welcoming to potential visitors. Additionally, evidence suggests that the delta variant can be transmitted by those who are vaccinated just as easily as by those who are un-vaccinated. This is of special importance in respect to those with health conditions that prevent them from being vaccinated and as the school year approaches to children who are not yet eligible to be vaccinated.

Love of self: Lastly, I ask you to do everything in your power, with creativity and respect, to educate people and increase the number of vaccinated people in your congregation and community as an act of self-love, honoring the image of God in each person.

When the pandemic first hit, I wrote that we would need to be agile, willing to come in and out of public and virtual spaces. I cannot express my deep esteem for how clergy and lay leaders alike have done this with grace. I give great thanks to God that many lives in our diocese have been protected because of such leadership.

Every Blessing,

10th Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Kansas

Connecting young adults to local ministries

The Diocese wants to stay connected with Episcopal young adults after they finish high school. If college is in your future, let us to know if you'll be attending one of the schools in Kansas that has a campus ministry program. If you'll be attending elsewhere or doing alternative activities, the Diocese wants to help connect you with a local program or church. Complete the form with a phone and/or e-mail so they can stay in touch.

Mission: Provide refuge to those in need.

Vision: End homelessness in Butler County.

BHI provides day and overnight accommodations. The Day Shelter allows BHI to offer more services to assist those who are homeless. This new program is based on a "success plan" developed around each guest's needs to chart a path out of homelessness. BHI has relied on the support of the community and churches to achieve its mission.

Volunteers needed to help!

- 2 days a month, 11:30am-4pm
 - Bring a meal for 12 people
 - Check in guests, serve meals, fix lunches, chat with guests, and tidy up. Training provided and experienced staff are always present.
- For each church, we ask for a 3-month commitment which totals six days and six meals.

The help of church volunteers will free BHI staff to work in-depth with our guests on their plans to escape homelessness.

Walk in Love: Episcopal Belief & Practices

Tuesdays 7 7:00pm

Take a journey through The Book of Common Prayer, the Christian life, and basic beliefs of our faith, guided by two Episcopal priests. Walk through the liturgical year, the sacraments of the church, habits of daily prayer, and the teachings of Anglican Christianity. See how our prayer shapes our belief and our lives and how our beliefs lead us into a deeper relationship with Jesus Christ. Walk in Love is a comprehensive look at the practices and beliefs found within the Episcopal faith.

Six Signs Your Spiritual Life Is Healthy

- (1) You have thought it out. There is an internal logic to your faith. You have spent time in critical reflection about what you believe.
- (2) You want to go on learning. Your faith has a built-in curiosity.
- (3) You value kindness very highly. Your sense of compassion radiates out, taking in all forms of life.
- (4) You have the confidence to see your own fragility. Each day is precious to you. You do not want to waste a moment on negative behavior but radiate hope to as many as you can.
- (5) You are a spiritual veteran. You have known hard times and faced many fears. The foundation of your faith is not greeting card theology, but resilient commitment to the peace beyond struggle.
- (6) You have seen visions. Even if through a glass darkly, you have caught a glimpse of the other reality that this world often obscures. You have seen beauty. You have felt serenity. You believe.
